

Community Living and Home Supports

Community Residential Rehabilitation Services

Community homes are provided for one to six people with a behavioral health diagnosis. With a focus on recovery, the staff provides individuals with the support and training needed to participate in and prepare for everyday life in the community.

Services

- Individualized life skills training in such areas as money management, housekeeping, personal care, cooking, and use of public transportation for recreation and employment
- Actively encourages engagement in community activities, including bowling, trips to the movies, and regular visits to religious and cultural activities
- Support is provided to plan vacations

Eligibility

- Must be age 18 or older with a behavioral health diagnosis

Enrollment

- Contact Community Living and Home Supports for information

Cost

Fee is based on a review of the individual's income from Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
